THE STOCK MARKET. Wednesday, Nov. 19-p. m.

The movements in the stock market to-day were too widely opposed to be altogether natural. After proper allowances for its extremely sensitive condition, the abrupt alternations were caused by something more than rumors or incidents. The early dealings were Influenced by the decline in the London market in consequence of rumors of the London market in consequence of rumors of fresh disturbances, but private dispatches were the published ones. The document of the published ones, the published ones. The document of the published ones are supported to the published ones. announcement that the Bank of England would not accept bills drawn on the Barings since Saturday was evidently misunderstood abroad, but beday was evidently misunderstood abroad, but before the opening of this market the action was understood to be necessary to prevent a flood of drafts from all parts of the world. The opening was active and feverish, in response to the decline in London, and many stocks made further losses, but the lowest figures, as a rule, were made in the first few minutes. In the afternoon there was an apparent change in the temper of cline in London, and many stocks made further losses, but the lowest figures, as a rule, were made in the first few minutes. In the afternoon there was an apparent change in the temper of speculation. The ease of money and the scarcity of stocks were the controlling influences. The leading stocks were the controlling influences. The leading stocks were in demand for use and, in a few cases, the rates rose to 1 per cent a day. On the surface, this demand indicated a large short interest, but it must be remembered that the recent investment purchases have taken a large amount of stock from the Street, while another large amount has been pledged in time loans or taken to the Clearing House for advances. A great many loans of stocks were called in the morning, and the consequence was a sharp upward movement in the stocks that are in poorest circulation. Burlington and Quiney rose nearly 5 per cent from its lowest point and specialties, like New-Jersey Central, still more. Northwest, however, was rather heavy, and the final gains in Louisville and Nashville, Lake Shore and a few other prominent shares were small fractions. The Villard stocks were the most active, and North American closed 1 and Northern Pacific preferred 1 1-4 per cent higher than they did last night. This is, perhaps, a fair measure of the advance. The conspicuous exceptions by absolute losses were Missouri Pacific, Erie and New-England, which failed by small fractions to recover their early losses. Reading and Northwest closed unchanged.

Aside from the uncertainty over affairs in the foreign markets, the developments were in favor of higher prices. A sharp advance followed the change of management in the Pacific Mail Company, and Richmond and West Point Terminal rallied nearly 1 per cent on the assurance that the board of directors was about to be strengthened. The principal buying in the last hour, it must be admitted, appeared to be for the short account. As the greater part of the advance was made in that time, the fright among the smaller bea complete rout. The closing at about the highest prices. THE DAY IN THE BOND MARKET. Government bonds continued to be neglected and, excepting the currency 6s, they were un-changed in price. The closing quotations were

The only sales of State issues were North Carolina 6s of 1919 at 122, and Alabama, Class A. at 163. Of city bank stocks Hanover sold (20) at 354. Considerable sales of others were made at auction and are reported below.

The general bond market was unusually active and naturally irregular. Although most issues closed lower, the demoralization that prevailed yesterday was overcome. Eric second consols were conspicuous by a rise of 4 per cent to 981-2. Richmond Terminal 5s rallied 21-2 per cent to 621-2, and Reading general mortgages 11-2 to conspicuous by a rise of 4 per cent to 981-2. Richmond Terminal 5s rallied 2 1-2 per cent to 621-2, and Reading general mortgages 1 1-2 to 761-2. On the other hand, Atchison issues were active and weak in spite of a midda, rally, and the general declines were over 1 per cent on an average. Exceptional weakness was shown by special issues and income bonds, which lost from 1 to 3 per cent. Reference is made to our full report of bond transactions.

The United States Treasury bought 500,000 ounces of silver at from 971-10 to 981-4 cents an ounce. The purchase completed the amount for the month, and no further offers will be considered until Monday, December 1.

Money on call ruled at 6 with exceptional loans at 8 per cent. The supply of loanable funds was increased by a further issue of Clearing House certificates, and at the close it was abundant at 4 per cent.

The Clearing House statement to-day was as allows: Exchanges, $149,697,204: balances. The Clearing House statement of the Clearing follows: Exchanges, $149,697,204; balances, $5.489,649.
